SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 23.

THE ART OF DINING. -A writer in one of the weekly papers is instructing the world on the weekly papers is instructing the world on the art of dining. The second article of the series is not quite four columns long, and is described to the "first step" in dining. Our reason weekly papers is instructing the world on the world on the art of dining. The second article of t voted to the "first step" in dining. Our readers may be glad to know that he recommends soup as the first thing to be taken; bread at the outset must be carefully avoided, though it may be taken according to taste with the solid articles! For the purpose evidently of sparing the feelings of his readers the writer forbears to enter upon any discussion of the "practice of taking three or four raw oysters at the be-ginning of the dinner," which, he says, "is not at all uncommon." He is kind enough to concede that "they do no harm." He closes by promising that the successive stages of the dinner shall be as agreeable and as easy as the first step. A good many persons think the "first step" is to get a dinner, and they would be obliged to the writer of this learned series if he would make that easy and agreeable.

MATRIMONY OR DEATH.—A very curious affair transpired in Louisville on Saturday afternoon. A couple of respectably dressed young women were passing along the street, when they were met by a very well dressed young man. One of the girls accosted him, and he stopped and spoke to her. Some words transpired between them, when the girl said, in a very loud voice, "Are you going to marry me?" The young man answered something which we suppose must have been a negative, as the girl immediately caught him by the throat, and as he struggled to get loose, tore off his collar. The other girl then attacked him, and as he turned to go they gave him a transpired between them, when the girl said, him, and as he turned to go they gave him a vigorous kick, each, and off he went. They turned and walked off in the opposite direction of the opposi tion, and so the affair ended. - Louisville Cour.

GUANO.-REED'S AMMONIATED SU-Superphosphate yet offered to the farmer, possessing all the activity of Peruvian Guano, but being far more durable in its effects. It contains a large amount of animal matter in a highly concentrated form, which, combined with its soluble bone phosphate of lime, cannot fail to render it very valuable as a fertilizer. Notwithstanding we believe it to be the besuper-phosphate in the market, yet, by a process peculiar in its manufacture, whereby the expenses are lessened, we are enabled to sell it very low, with a liberal discount to dealers.
